New book discussion group forms at Macomb County Library

CLINTON TONWSHIP, Mich. – The controversial best-seller “A Million Little Pieces” is the topic of the first evening book discussion group at the Macomb County Library.

James Frey’s book, which was featured in Oprah’s Book Club, came under criticism recently when it was disclosed that some details in the autobiography were embellished. The first meeting of the group will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 31, in the library’s meeting room.

The group, which will focus on biographies and non-fiction, will meet at 7 p.m. on the last Tuesday of each month, from January through May.

“Book groups are a great way to get people together to share ideas and discuss a common reading selection,” said Cathleen Russ, assistant director of the Macomb County Library. “Patrons can expect a supportive environment, and should feel free to express their opinions, positive or negative.”

The February selection is “Team of Rivals: the Political Genius of Abraham Lincoln,” by historian Doris Kearns Goodwin.

The Macomb County Library and its many programs and services are a public service of the Macomb County Board of Commissioners.

About Macomb County

Macomb County is an enriching community in Southeastern Michigan that has one of the state's fastest rates of growth. Its 834,000 residents make it Michigan's third-largest county, with direct access to Lake St. Clair and Anchor Bay, and a host of cultural and entertainment options. Its highly skilled workforce and investment in new and expanding businesses make it open to enterprise. Active civic leadership translates into balanced budgets and Michigan's second-lowest tax rate. An increasingly diverse population and high quality of life make Macomb County accessible to all.
